

Recorded British Military Involvement in Colonial Frontier Conflict

Working schedule - 16 grouped entries commencing between 1790 and 1842

NEW SOUTH WALES	Botany Bay and Georges River Marine-led patrol, second expedition 39 personnel Hawkesbury NSW Corps, 66 soldiers + 2 officers Toongabbie and Parramatta NSW Corps with settlers, troop number unknown Hawkesbury detachments NSW Corps, troop number unknown Hawkesbury-Nepean and Appin 46th Regiment, 70-85 personnel Bathurst district British troops, about 75 in published account Nunn expedition and Waterloo Creek Soldier-staffed Mounted Police, about 23
VAN DIEMEN'S LAND	Risdon Cove NSW Corps, total engaged uncertain Port Dalrymple Military guard, troop number unknown Martial law operations and Black Line Black Line in 1830: about 550 soldiers
NORTHERN SETTLEMENT	Fort Wellington, Raffles Bay British soldiers, 3 soldiers + 2 convicts
WESTERN AUSTRALIA	Pinjarra 21st Regiment, 11 soldiers in party account York district 21st Regiment, troop number unknown
PORT PHILLIP DISTRICT	Melbourne encampment raid 28th Regiment with police, troop number unknown
SOUTH AUSTRALIA	Moorundie station 80th Regiment, 13 in published reconstruction Port Lincoln district 96th Regiment, 19 in McLaren's muster

● Armed encounter ◆ Expedition or operation, duration unspecified ▲ Station or deployment start — Period detail in schedule ● Black Line, 1830

Points identify the listed date when duration is unspecified. Moorundie's endpoint is not established here.

Blank years mean no entry in this working schedule; they do not establish an absence of military activity.

Source: British Military Interventions in Colonial Frontier Violence, revised 6 October 2026. Non-exhaustive; figures are source-specific.